Shirley Paulson, PhD

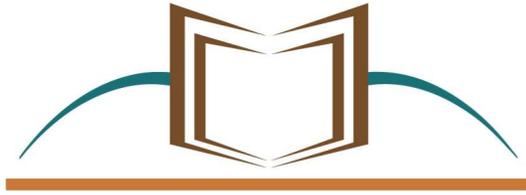

Shirley Paulson's exploration and research into the 'Bible and Beyond' began with her Master of Theological Studies work at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary, which led to her PhD in Religion and Theology from the University of Birmingham (UK).

The unique contribution of Shirley's work is the combination of her contemporary ecumenical work with research in early Christian thought and writings. Combining her experience in healing, theological scholarship, and Practical Theology with research in Biblical and extracanonical texts evokes ever-new questions and conversations for scholars, spiritual seekers, and Bible enthusiasts. The foundational text for her research is the Secret Revelation of John.

Shirley has over three decades of experience presenting lectures, classes, and workshops on early Christian texts. Since 2017 she has been the driving force behind Early Christian Texts (earlychristiantexts.com), an organization offering an assortment of online educational programs including a newsletter, articles, blog, podcast, discussion series, and adult learning courses.

Her first book, Illuminating the Secret Revelation of John, was published by Cascade Books in April of 2022.

Class Description

Introduction to the Secret Revelation of John

The Secret Revelation of John, unearthed in 1945, has bewildered and excited scholars and religious thinkers ever since its discovery. It was found in central Egypt, near Nag Hammadi, with several other ancient writings. These writings, together and separately, have shifted scholars' views of early Christianity in startling ways.

The Secret Revelation of John (scholars also call it the Apocryphon of John) is the only one of the treatises in that collection to appear three times, indicating its overall importance. Unlike the Revelation to John, which is included in the biblical canon, the Secret Revelation of John includes the whole Christian story: of creation, how evil operates in the world, and how the Savior saves.

In this introductory course, Shirley Paulson provides a fascinating introductory lecture followed by a moderated discussion period which calls on participants to personally interact with what is found in the text.
