In-Depth presentation offered in-person or online

Shirley Paulson, PhD

Shirley Paulson's exploration and research into the 'Bible and Beyond' began with her Master of Theological Studies work at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary, which led to her PhD in Religion and Theology from the University of Birmingham (UK).

The unique contribution of Shirley's work is the combination of her contemporary ecumenical work with research in early Christian thought and writings. Combining her experience in healing, theological scholarship, and Practical Theology with research in Biblical and extracanonical texts evokes ever-new questions and conversations for scholars, spiritual seekers, and Bible enthusiasts. The foundational text for her research is the Secret Revelation of John.

Shirley has over three decades of experience presenting lectures, classes, and workshops on early Christian texts. Since 2017 she has been the driving force behind Early Christian Texts (earlychristiantexts.com), an organization offering an assortment of online educational programs including a newsletter, articles, blog, podcast, discussion series, and adult learning courses.

Her first book, Illuminating the Secret Revelation of John, was published by Cascade Books in April of 2022.

Class Description

In-Depth Study of the Gospel of Thomas

Discovered in the 1945 collection of ancient texts near Nag Hammadi, Egypt, the Gospel of Thomas, was written around the time other New Testament books were written. It was, and still is a source of profound inspiration.

The Gospel of Thomas urges its reader to think deeply, and it is an essential resource for Bible students, Christians, and anyone interested in the history of the earliest centuries of the Christ movements.

During this in-depth study participants will read and discuss some of the sayings which make up the Gospel. We'll note the startling similarities with biblical texts and identify those sayings that are similar with a twist, and those completely new to the New Testament.

How the Classes Work
